High security cylinders - Medeco

All locks are not created equal. Medeco® cylinders provide a degree of security by incorporating special design features in their cylinders. Medeco cylinders offer superior pick resistance, excellent resistance against drilling and other forced attacks, large number of key combinations and a utility patent to protect against unauthorized duplication.

Pick Resistance - Pick resistance is accomplished through the specially designed pins that must be elevated and rotated to the correct position in order for the lock to operate. False slots on the side of the pins, along with mushroom shaped top pins, further enhance the cylinder's pick resistance.
